Good-Bye from the Editors

Sadly, this is the last Arrowhead Panther Press that I will be editing. I hope that everyone had a great school year and that you all made great new friends and stayed with your old ones.

Have a wonderful summer, swim a bunch, and eat a lot of junk food. This is your Editor-in-Chief saying good-bye to everyone!

On the bus ride to and from Camp Surf, we spent seven hours driving each way. The bus had a mixture of loudness and quietness, as if each section had a different volume. During the ride, everyone was doing what they wanted, from switching seats to talking. All of these activities made the bus periodically fluctuate, from chaotic to quiet. The major difference between the bus rides there and back was that on the way there, ironically, everyone was wide awake even though it was very early in the morning, and on the way back, everyone was falling asleep. Overall, in my opinion, the bus rides to and from camp were very pleasant.
